Faubus Irked by Accusation of State Cities

By JOHN R. STARR

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus took quick and firm issue today with accusations that he ignored needs of Arkansas cities in his sixth term platform.

Faubus said in a news conference that his administration had done more for the cities than any other and that he intends to help them even more in the future.

He did not mention his program for the cities in his sixth term announcement, Faubus said, simply to hold down the length of his statement.

"The absence of any reference to municipal problems does not mean that I am unaware of them," Faubus said. "I have already had a conference with the officials and leaders of the Municipal League. They have submitted to me a program which they have adopted."

"We found ourselves in agreement on almost all of the programs. There are only one or two parts and proposals which I wish to study further before making any commitment," Faubus said.

These remarks were included in a letter to Charles L. Carpenter, city attorney of Sherborn, Mass.

Wirges Fails in Bid for Court Favor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) —

The Arkansas Supreme Court rejected today attempts by Gene Wirges, former publisher of the Morrilton Democrat, to get a transcript of a March 19, 1963, proceeding at which Wirges contends he was "dressed down" by Conway Circuit Judge Wylie Bean.

But Wirges won another plea before the Supreme Court. He obtained an order directing Bean to hear testimony in a suit in which Wirges contends Conway County Sheriff Marlin Hawkins wrongfully collected $418.99 from him in connection with a foreclosure sale of Wirges' newspaper.

Wirges had three suits in which he attempted to get a copy of the disputed transcript. The Supreme Court said he proceeded improperly in all three actions.

It denied his petition for an order directing Bean to order his court reporter to prepare the transcript. It dismissed an appeal from a Bean order denying Wirges' petition for the transcript and it denied Wirges' petition for the right to appeal the whole case to the Supreme Court.

Wirges attacked the Conway County officials in his newspaper for years. He lost control of the paper last year after County Judge Tom Scott and County Clerk C. C. Brewer won libel judgments totaling $275,000 against him.

The disputed $418.99 was part of $528.45 collected by Hawkins from Wirges even though the foreclosure sale never came off. The sale was scheduled as the result of an $11,187 judgment against Wirges held by Rex Paul. The day before the sale Paul sold the judgment to Dr. Stanley Gutowski of Perryville and Gutowski did not foreclose. Although the sale did not come off, Hawkins collected certain expenses, including $341.99 as his three per cent commission for handling the sale. A $25 inventory fee and a $52 fee for publication of the sale notice in Morrilton's other newspaper.

3 Arkansans Killed in Missouri

PORTAGEVILLE, Mo. (AP)

Three Arkansans were killed and nine persons injured Sunday in a three-car collision on U.S. 61, three miles north of here.

The dead were identified by the Missouri Highway Patrol as James Hobbs, 41, of Humphrey, Ark., and his sons, Donald, 5-months, and Ronald Dale, 6-months. Hobbs' wife, Marjorie Lucille, 38, and a daughter, Sandra Kay Hobbs, 8, were hospitalized in serious condition. Three other Hobbs children, Barbara, 14; Margaret, 12 and Connie, 1, were less seriously injured.

The other injured were in a car driven by Fulton Bibbs, Jr., 34, of Detroit. Only Bibbs was in serious condition. All the injured were hospitalized at Hayti, Mo.

The state patrol said Bibbs' car and one driven by Kenneth M. Clark, 18, of near Manila, Ark., sideswiped, then Bibbs' car collided head-on with the Hobbs car.

Portageville is located in the southeast corner of Missouri.

May Salvage Jr. Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—House

Democratic leaders think they can now salvage the International Development Association bill, a sort of junior foreign aid measure the House defeated earlier in a painful setback to President Johnson's administration.

The bill is being brought back before the House Wednesday, after weeks of effort by White House and congressional leadership lieutenants to switch the 20-vote margin opponents mustered Feb. 26.

IDA is an adjunct to the World Bank. Using a fund provided by 17 economically advanced countries, it makes loans on extremely easy terms to developing nations.

The United States, although it provides less than half IDA's capital, is by far the biggest single contributor. The pending legislation would authorize a $312-million U.S. participation in a new IDA capital pool of $750 million, which the association says it needs if it is to continue making loans. The U.S. share amounts to about $1 for each $1.40 contributed by the other 16 countries together.

Civil Rights Strategy May Be Changed

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hopes

of Senate leaders for additional voting on jury trial amendments to the embattled civil rights bill were dealt a blow today by Southern opponents.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., spokesman for the Dixie bloc, told newsmen he didn't think there would be any votes this week.

He added, however, that a meeting of the Southern senators will be held Tuesday and he will be in a better position then to assess the situation.

With the Senate starting the 10th week and 52nd day of its civil rights debate, party leaders had hoped that the jury trial issue could be disposed of by midweek.

The Southerners are battling for the right to trial by jury in criminal contempt cases arising from antidiscrimination injunctions authorized by the House-passed bill.

The Senate last Wednesday night, by a 46-45 vote, rejected an amendment of Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., to provide for jury trials in these cases, but a similar amendment has been proposed by Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla.

A statement issued by bipartisan leaders supporting the House bill had reported that a vote probably would be taken late today or Tuesday on a compromise jury trial amendment advanced by Sens. Mike Mansfield of Montana, and Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Mansfield is the Democratic leader of the Senate and Dirksen is the GOP leader.

Their amendment provides for jury trials in criminal contempt cases growing out of the bill's enforcement procedures only if the penalty exceeds 30 days in jail or a $300 fine.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., assistant majority leader and floor manager of the bill, has expressed confidence

Johnson Not Favorable to Debating

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The

Republican presidential nominee may get equal time, but he is unlikely to get on the same television screen with President Johnson in the campaign.

Congress has ready for action a compromise bill to suspend for the Democratic and Republican presidential nominees the provision of the Communications Act which requires broadcasters to make equal time available for all candidates if free time is given to one.

Passage of this legislation presumably would open the way for television-radio debates between the major candidates such as those between Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon in 1960.

While there has been no final decision, top Democrats do not expect President Johnson to agree to face-to-face debate with his Republican opponent.

Instead, Johnson may take televised time to discuss the issues and state the case for his election. His GOP rival would have the same amount of time for the same purpose, but would appear separately.

The late President Kennedy told a news conference that he would debate his Republican opponent. Republicans already are citing this pledge and suggesting that Johnson is ducking a debate.

The President was said to feel that the situation this year is different from 1960 when neither of the major party candidates was carrying the responsibilities of the presidency. What they had to say did not constitute American policy as would any statement of a president.

Separate appearances of the nominees might deny Johnson's opponent some political advertising he could get by being on the same screen at the same time with the President.

Some of Nixon's supporters in 1960 opposed his decision to appear in debate with Kennedy. They felt that the vice president was much more widely known by the voters than the senator and was only helping his opponent get television exposure.

Attempt Made on McNamara's Life in Saigon

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam

(AP)—A Communist agent suspected of plotting to kill U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on his arrival Tuesday leaped from a window at police headquarters today, police said.

The agent, identified as Nguyen Van Troi, leaped from a second-floor window, landed on a jeep, suffered a broken leg and was hospitalized. Police said he was in a coma.

Troi was one of three suspected Communist Viet Cong agents picked up Saturday night as they tried to mine a bridge on the route McNamara will take from Saigon airport into the capital, U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was expected to be riding with McNamara.

Several other Viet Cong suspects have been picked up. A quantity of high explosives has been unearthed since the arrest of the three, police sources said.

The Viet Cong agents confessed they planned to blow up the bridge. One of the agents was caught laying a wire under the bridge. He led police to the two other agents and a mine with an explosive charge hidden in an old kerosene can buried in the mudbank of the river.

U.S. officials did not say whether alternate plans had been made for McNamara's arrival.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, arrived without incident today to join with McNamara in conferences on the

Chorus Climax to Festival of Arts Here

A stirring climax to the Festival of the Arts in Hope was heard Sunday night when The Community Chorus and Hope High School Band presented "Music of Christian Patriotism" in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church directed by Jon Barbarotto with Mrs. H. A. Spraggins, organist, and Mrs. B. C. Hyatt, pianist.

The blending of voices from choirs at the First Baptist, First Methodist, First Presbyterian, and First Christian Churches, with skillfully played musical instruments reached dramatic heights with the rendering of "This Is My Country."

If heads were raised a little higher and eyes became a little more sparkling, it was the result of the reawakening of patriotic zeal caused by the chorus and band. Those privileged to hear the performance were indeed grateful to Mrs. B. C. Hyatt for her leadership in the first "Festival of the Arts" in Hope which was concluded with "The Music of Christian Patriotism" under the direction of Jon Barbarotto.

State Trooper Robert Reynolds said the accident happened Friday on U.S. 62 three miles east of Green Forest. Sims died Sunday. Vopot and his wife, Sylvia, 48, was hospitalized.

Twelve of the other deaths were in traffic, three of those involving tractors or other farm equipment. The remaining five were drownings, one each at Russellville, Tuckerman and Lewisville and two at Little Rock.

Two persons were killed Saturday in a traffic accident at Sherill. All other traffic accidents involving fatalities included only one death.

Five Persons in Idaho Family Are Murdered

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Five persons, including three children, were found murdered Sunday and police said a 54-year-old Boise man wanted for questioning in the slayings was presumed drowned.

A patrolman spotted a motorist officers believe to be Raymond A. Reasons acting suspiciously and chased his car until it plunged into a canal. The man escaped the vehicle, but police said he apparently was pulled under water in the canal.

Three of the victims were his children, one was a stepdaughter, and the fifth was his former wife whose body was found in the car.

The search for the bodies began when Mrs. Edna Reason, the estranged wife of Reasons, told police her husband had called and told her he had killed the children — Eddie Ray Reasons, 13, Pamela, 11, and Patty, 10, and Reasons' stepdaughter, Sally Gohman, about 20. They were found in Reasons' house.

Pulled from the car submerged in the canal was the body of Estelle Reasons, about 47. Her body was wrapped in a blanket and she had been shot in the chest. A rifle was found in the car.

At the Reasons home, police said, a note found near one of the bodies read, "I've hurt them long enough." It was signed "Daddy."

Fourteen-year-old, an 18-year-old Hope youth, was involved in the burglarizing of a number of fishing cabins in the Fulton area. Six Weekend Deaths, 3 Drownings

Of six deaths reported in Arkansas during the weekend, half were from drowning.

The three drowning and three traffic fatalities brought to 19 the total number of violent deaths in the state during the week ended at midnight Sunday.

Four Young Burglars Sentenced

In a Saturday session of the Hempstead Circuit Court, hearings were conducted with respect to four teenagers recently apprehended on felony charges.

Three Bossier City youths, ages 17 and 18, entered pleas of guilty to burglarizing a cigarette vending machine at the Bobcat Inn last week. It was developed at the hearing that these were first offenders but all three boys had dropped out of school and were unemployed.

Judge Lyle Brown ordered them to report back to the court September 21, at which time they are required to produce a certificate of school enrollment and proof of passing grades. They were also directed to pay $104.00 to Hope Novelty Company for its loss in the burglary.

The fourth teen-ager, an 18-year-old Hope youth, was involved in the burglarizing of a number of fishing cabins in the Fulton area. Judge Brown revoked his driving privileges and directed that he spend the next four week-ends in the Hempstead County Jail, admonishing the defendant that if this taste of jail life did not "bring him to his senses" he would be compelled to send him to the penitentiary.

Man Shot to Death in His Bathroom NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Fred N. Harris, 57, of North Little Rock was fatally shot Sunday in the bathroom of his North Little Rock home.

North Little Rock police charged Harris' father-in-law, Will McCamery, 80, with murder.

Harris' wife told officers she heard a shot and dashed into that section of the house where McCamery told her the gun had discharged accidentally.

A few moments later, she told police, she heard another shot and found her husband with a wound in his abdomen. He died a short time later.

Officers said McCamery left the house, called police and told them what happened. McCamery is held in the North Little Rock jail.

Texas, SMU Are Placed on Probation

DALLAS (AP) — Officials of the two schools plastered with probations by the Southwest Conference for recruiting violations — Texas and Southern Methodist — pledged strict adherence to the rules today.

Southern Methodist, which drew the severest penalty—two years during which it can not participate in NCAA activity, including bowl games, although allowed to compete for the conference football championship, had terse comment from its president, Dr. Willis Tate, a former SMU football player.

"It is the commitment and policy of Southern Methodist University to comply with the spirit and letter of the regulations of the Southwest Conference," Dr. Tate said. "Any violation by SMU was unintentional and unknown."

"The incidents happened in 1963, and all corrective measures have been taken to assure complete adherence to all regulations."

Southern Methodist was charged with offering special inducements to prospective athletes, excessive financial aid for students already in school, offering financial aid to prospects beyond the legal limit and campus visitations by prospects, financed by alumni and yet unaccompanied by the alumnus (which is required by the rules).

Texas, the national football champion last season, was given an indefinite probation with the privilege of having it removed within one year and was not barred from post-season games. Texas has been in four bowl games in five years.

Coach Darrell Royal said, immediately following the meeting of the conference Saturday, that he already had moved to correct the conditions that brought the Longhorns their penalty.

Texas was penalized for excessive visits to prospective athletes, campus visits by prospective athletes at the expense of but not accompanied by alumni and excessive entertainment of prospective athletes while on the campus.

Similar discontent was expressed by Glenn L. Zimmerman, executive director of the Municipal League, in another letter to Faubus.

Zimmerman released copies of his letter to news media before Faubus answered him.

Faubus said in the letter to Carpenter that state turnback money to the cities has increased from $3,538,035 in 1955 to $8,112,090 in 1963 and that further increases are expected.

Faubus said he also supported a constitutional amendment to increase the taxing powers of cities and that he will back the amendment when it appears on the general election ballot this November.

Race Shapes as a Six Horse Affair

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—The field for the 88th running of the $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico Saturday shaped up as a six and possibly seven-horse affair today with another duel in the offing between Kentucky Derby winner Northern Dancer and runner-up Hill Rise.

Nothing occurred in the one-mile of the $61,000 Withers at Aqueduct or the 1 1-16 miles of the Preakness Prep at Pimlico last Saturday to alter the original field for the second race of the Triple Crown for 3-year-olds.

In addition to Northern Dancer and Hill Rise, the starting lineup is expected to consist of the next three finishers in the Derby — The Scoundrel, Roman Brother and Quadrangle — Knightly Manner and perhaps Big Pete.

Mr. Brick, sixth in the Kentucky Derby after setting the early pace, romped to a four-length victory in the Withers with a respectable 1:35 3-5 clocking and is eligible for the Preakness.

But after the Withers, Trainer Jimmy Picou said, "I doubt it," when asked if the heavily campaigned son of Johns Joyt would make the trip to Baltimore. Mr. Brick has raced nine times this year and has a record of three victories, three seconds and one third for earnings of $107,710 and a total bankroll of $196,523.

The size of the Preakness field should benefit Hill Rise, who was unable to match Northern Dancer's quick start at the five-eighths pole in the Derby. Pimlico's sharp turns favor Northern Dancer's shorter strides but the small field figures to give Hill Rise ample room to stretch his long, ground eating strides.

The $24,000 Back Eyed Susan for 3-year-old fillies at Pimlico last Saturday lost some of its luster when Blue Northern, unbeaten in five races this year, came up with sore legs and was scratched.

Bod Queen led throughout the 1 1-16 mile event and won by one-half length over favored Scree to pick up $15,600. The Wheatley Stable Miss paid $14. Trainer Wally Dunn said Blue Northern would be retired for the year.

In other top races, Smart posted a one-half-length decision over Inbalance in the $30,275 Valley Forge Handicap at Garden State Park for a $8 payoff; Nushka, $23.20, captured the $40,325 Illinois Derby at Sportsman's Park; Beauful, $8, took the $16,575 Hannah Dustin Handicap for fillies and mares at Suffolk Downs; Shoot Luke, $57.80, won the $15,000-added

Arkansan Sets SWC Track Record

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—John Deardorff of the University of Arkansas established the record Saturday when he won the three-mile run, a new event, at the Southwest Conference track and field meet here.

Deardorff finished the run in 14:49.4. He was one of three Arkansas trackmen who finished first in their events.

James Bane won the high jump with a leap of 6-4 and Dick Perry kept his SWC title in the broad jump with a leap of 24-5½.

Arkansas placed fifth in the varsity division of the meet. It was won by Rice for the first of 2-5½.

Arkansas placed fifth in the varsity division of the meet. It was won by Rice for the first time in 25 years. The Owls rolled up 61 points; Texas was second with 52, followed by Southern Methodist 43, Baylor 34, Arkansas 30, Texas A&M 28, Texas Tech 21 and Texas Tech 1.

May Stop Buses to Baseball Games

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Transit System has threatened to end its special buses for baseball fans this season unless the Cleveland Indians continue underwriting the program.

Donald C. Hyde, CTS general manager, said Sunday he wants to keep the buses running but he expects "to make out-of-pocket costs. It wouldn't be fair to make the other transit passengers pay the cost."

Gabe Paul, general manager of the Indians, said he knew of no other city where the baseball management paid for special bus service to baseball games.

Vote Rejecting Union Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board has upheld the vote of employees of American Greetings Corp. at Osceola, Ark., rejecting union representation.

The employees voted 532 - 86 against representation by the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers.

The union contested the election and said the company had caused unreasonable fear of reprisals.

The NLRB found that the firm waged an aggressive campaign against selection by its employees of union representation, but said the campaign was conducted in such a manner as to not create a "concise influence, however subtle," on the employees.

war against the Communist guerrillas.

"I have come here to get a sense of reality about the situation here," Taylor said. "That is the same reason McNamara is coming, too."

Taylor, who accompanied McNamara on previous visits, said officials in Washington were encouraged by the steps undertaken by Premier Nguyen Khan but he added it was too early for "comparative statements."

"Don't be surprised if we are back here every couple of months," Taylor said. "We get regular analyses of the Viet Nam situation in Washington but we need to update them."

McNamara, who was winding up a visit to West Germany Sunday, showed no concern about the alleged plot.

"You can say that I have no comment to make, absolutely no comment," he told reporters in Bonn.

Reliable sources said a Vietnamese policeman happened on the plot about 10 p.m. Saturday when he spotted an underwater swimmer near the bridge. The swimmer and two other men in the area were arrested.

One was in a public lavatory near the bridge and about 150 yards of wire trailed out of the structure. Police dug up 50 pounds of explosives in a kerosene can in a mudbank.

The informants said the three men—two of them Viet Cong agents and the third a "strong suspect"—confessed to the plot during a night of interrogation.

Their leader, who fled, had intended to set off the explosive from the lavatory as the McNamara motorcade passed.

Curious aspects of the incident prompted questions by some Western sources. They questioned why the wire had been laid two days in advance, thereby increasing the risk of discovery.

Others suggested opponents of Khanh may have been trying to scare off McNamara rather than assassinate him. One of the defense secretary's objectives is to strengthen the Khanh regime.

Khanh's opponents received a rebuke Sunday from the Buddhist Association of South Viet Nam in a declaration of support for the strongman-premier.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk opened a diplomatic drive for Western support for the South Vietnamese government on his arrival in the Hague Sunday for the meeting of foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The initial response was not encouraging.

Civil Rights

that this will be adopted in the end.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., called on the Senate to act now, saying "52 days of debate on this bill is ridiculous."

"Let's vote it up or down," he said.

Proxmire said there was a massive legislative program to be acted on, if and when the civil rights bill is completed.

Russell and Humphrey exchanged opposing views on just how much government officials should inject themselves into the debate.

Humphrey said he understood five Southern states had contributed funds to an organization opposing the civil rights bill.

Russell said it seemed to him tax funds from all the 50 states were being used to support the bill—because a lot of government officials were working for its passage.

He said the attorney general had been meeting with Senate leaders and that the attorney general also had been giving freely his opinions as to legality of certain amendments and sections.

Russell told a Georgia audience that opponents lack the votes to block eventual passage of the bill and that the outcome is uncertain.

Sens. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., and John Sparkman, D-Ala., in a program taped for radio use, said they would fight to prevent any watering down of the measure—the inference being that such compromises might bring Senate approval.

Sen. Kenneth E. Keating, R-N.Y., said President Johnson should "lift the telephone and do a little talking" with Southern senators in an effort to get the bill passed without crippling amendments.

Johnson told audiences North and South that a civil rights bill will be passed, even if round-the-clock Senate sessions are required.

Two Negro civil rights leaders—James A. Farmer, director of the Congress of Racial Equality and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference—appeared in radio-television interviews against weakening the bill through amendments.

"DEAR ABBY"

She's Roasting!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: Summer is just around the corner and with it come a problem that I have battled for the last four summers. My husband fancies himself an expert barbecue cook. He thinks he knows all there is to know about barbecuing and the results are disastrous! He never asks anyone how they like their steaks or hamburgers done, but proceeds to burn everything until it's dry and tough because that's the way he likes his. He gets so mean and stubborn when he puts that apron on that nobody can tell him anything. I love the delicious taste of outdoor barbecued meats that cannot be duplicated in the kitchen. Any helpful ideas to solve my problem would be appreciated.

Ragged Edge
Dear Ragged: Sorry, but you are fighting a losing battle. There is nothing as impossible as a man who thinks he can barbecue. Pray for a short and rainy summer. And forget the "delicious taste of outdoor barbecued meats." It's not worth it.

Dear Abby: I understand that the bride has the say when it comes to the wedding, but what is the proper procedure when the groom's father is a minister (of the same faith) but lives in a distant town? If the bride asks her future father-in-law to perform the ceremony, what about her local minister? If she asks her own minister to officiate, what about the groom's father? Weddings can be difficult. Thank goodness I am the mother of only —

One Daughter
Dear One: Let the bride have her say. A minister who would resent it is a poor minister.

Dear Abby: My husband and I haven't been getting along too well for quite some time. When he goes to work, he calls me all day to make sure I'm home. He's so jealous it's sickening. I get one hour a week for shopping. (At night.) He says there's too much cheating going on in the world and he doesn't want it to happen to us. Abby, I've been so bored and lonely for so long that when this young man spoke to me (on my hour out) I couldn't help myself. He's of me. I can't get a personal reply as my husband picks up the mail, so answer this in the paper. I can always deny it's me. What should I do?

Want A Change

Dear Wants: Stick with the man you're married to. He has his faults, but at least you know what they are. The new Romeo may provide a new thrill, but that will wear off, too, eventually. The only thing you can be sure of insofar as the new flame is concerned is that he spends his afternoons with married women while their husbands work. Is that the kind of husband you want? Think it over.

Dear Abby: Last year I paid $45 for a pair of skis. They were hardly used, and as good as new. A very good friend of mine offered to buy them from me, so because of our friendship, I sold them to her for $12. Then she turned around and sold them to someone else for $25 and went bragging all around town about the profit she made on the deal. It's not the money, it's the principle of the thing. I would like your opinion of this person.

Mad
Dear Mad: Your friend was stupid for "bragging" about the profit she made. But unless she bought the skis from you with the understanding that she was not to sell them, they were hers to do whatever she wanted with them.

World's Fair Cost Mostly Reasonable

By FRANCIS STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—As millions of parents will in the coming months, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Osborne took their children to the World's Fair a few days ago. They found some costs far too high to suit them but regarded most as reasonable.

The Osbornes and their three children—John, 6; Steven, 5 and Amy, 4—spent a total of $13.47 during their visit which lasted from late morning to 7:30 p.m. That included parking and admission charges. The family's largest expense of the day was for souvenir hats for the boys. These were lightweight, Alpine types, sporting tall feathers and the boys' names stitched onto the brim.

The price was $3.12 for the two. Osborne was dumbfounded

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL Amendment No. 53 (Legislative)

That the following is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, and upon being submitted to the electors of the State for approval or rejection at the next general election for Representatives and Senators, if a majority of the electors voting thereon, at such an election, adopt such amendment, the same shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, to-wit:

"SECTION 1. The first unnumbered paragraph of Section 4 of Article 12 of the Constitution is hereby amended to read as follows: 'No municipal corporation shall be authorized to pass any laws contrary to the general laws of the State; and, except as otherwise specifically authorized by amendments to the Constitution, no municipal corporation shall be authorized to levy any tax on real or personal property to a greater extent, in one year, than one per cent of the assessed value of the same.'

"SECTION 2. Section 9 of Article 16 of the Constitution is hereby amended to read as follows: 'Except as otherwise specifically authorized by amendments to the Constitution, no county shall levy any tax on real or personal property to a greater extent, in one year, than one per cent of the assessed value of the same.'

"SECTION 3. Amendments No. 3, 22 and 27 to the Constitution are hereby repealed."

"SECTION 4. The provisions of this amendment shall take effect and be in full force on and after November 4, 1964."

Lillian Routon Day Held by Friday Music Club

when he learned the cost. "I thought maybe they would be about 30 cents each," he said.

Mrs. Osborne, an attractive brunette, was equally dismayed but the parents had promised the boys hats in advance and didn't want to disappoint them.

Little Amy settled for a balloon, price 50 cents. It was a double-type balloon, with one representing a bunny inside a larger sphere. The outside balloon got punctured in about an hour. The other lasted about 30 minutes longer. Osborne thought that price "a little steep."

The Osbornes live in Summit, N.J. The father, a tall man who is often told he bears a resemblance to Rudy Vallee, is an accountant for the First National City Bank of New York and works at its Manhattan headquarters.

The parents had studied newspaper stories about various costs. In planning their first day they deliberately avoided the amusement section, where rides and shows range from 50 cents to $3.

They felt it would involve too much expense for the whole family, and they also wanted the children to see as much of the fair as possible.

The Osbornes, who are Roman Catholics, began their day at the fair with a prayer at the Vatican Pavilion and ended it with high praise for the exposition.

After a visit to the New Jersey Pavilion it was lunch time.

To cut down their expenses they had brought with them five corned beef sandwiches and some apples. They bought four sodas at 15 cents each at an outdoor restaurant and ate on a bench near the Unisphere, symbol of the fair. Young John got a 10-cent package of gumdrops.

In the afternoon the family visited the Wisconsin exhibit to see the world's largest piece of cheese—a 17½ ton chunk measuring 6½ by 5½ by 14½ feet. They also took rides through the General Motors and Ford Pavilions, which are free.

Approaching the Sinclair Pavilion to see the life-size, animated dinosaurs and other prehistoric animals, John got lost. His parents put in an anxious 10 minutes before they

Big Wrangle of Votes in Stone County

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark. (AP)—Political factions in Stone County are wrangling over 310 poll taxes officially sold, but unaccounted for in the poll tax book.

County Clerk Jo Ann Lancaster certified to the state auditor's office last fall that 3,441 poll taxes had been sold.

She said this was the number certified to her by Sheriff-Collector Cullen Jake Storey.

The poll book, which was later printed, bears the names of only 3,131 poll tax receipt holders.

Rep. Eddie A. Walker, who decided to run for sheriff after the discrepancy was discovered, says he believes the votes may be used against him.

Sheriff Storey, who seeks reelection, says that any discrepancy is the result of honest mistakes.

"I've never yet seen a list that checked out 100 per cent," Storey said.

But Walker says a difference of 310 votes cannot be ignored. He says he talked with State Auditor Jimmie (Red) Jones about the problem, and with Aubrey McCasland of the county audit division of the audit bureau.

"They passed the buck back and forth," Walker said.

The new operator, pictured above at her Fairchild Teletype-setter Perforator, is Mrs. Peggy Holt. She and her husband, G. A. Holt of John Hawkins & Associates, live on Hope Route Four with their two small sons.

Mrs. Holt was No. 1 in a test of several applicants, missing only two out of 50 words in a spelling test and maintaining the required 50 words a minute in typing. She was helped by the fact that during employment found him strolling about inside the pavilion gazing at the dinosaurs.

The only other expenses were $1.50 for parking, $4.65 for admission to the grounds and five ice cream cones at 25 cents each.

The normal admission price is $2 for adults and $1 for children.

However, Osborne had tickets which had been purchased by his bank at a one-third discount before the fair's opening.

Books of tickets now may be purchased at fair gates at a 5 per cent discount.

Afterward, the Osbornes decided they liked the General Motors show the best. Visitors there ride in moving seats through exhibits depicting the world of tomorrow.

They originally had planned to take the children to Pepsi-Cola's "small world" show, but changed their minds when they learned admission was 95 cents for adults and 60 for children.

Said Mrs. Osborne in summing up the fraction of the fair they saw:

"I think it's marvelous. We've been looking forward to it quite a while and we're not disappointed."

Said her husband:

"It was very exciting. I really loved it. The thing we saw I thought were very impressive. As for expenses, I guess you have got to pick and choose. I do feel that people can see it on very little money. You can pay anything you want."

Books of tickets now may be purchased at fair gates at a 5 per cent discount.

Afterward, the Osbornes decided they liked the General Motors show the best. Visitors there ride in moving seats through exhibits depicting the world of tomorrow.

They originally had planned to take the children to Pepsi-Cola's "small world" show, but changed their minds when they learned admission was 95 cents for adults and 60 for children.

Said Mrs. Osborne in summing up the fraction of the fair they saw:

"I think it's marvelous. We've been looking forward to it quite a while and we're not disappointed."

Said her husband:

"It was very exciting. I really loved it. The thing we saw I thought were very impressive. As for expenses, I guess you have got to pick and choose. I do feel that people can see it on very little money. You can pay anything you want."

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—

A space psychologist declared today that scientists must explore extra sensory perception—ESP—or other mental processes as a means of communicating with future astronauts who voyage millions of miles from earth.

Everett F. Dagle, chief of data sciences for the Air Force Cambridge Research Laboratories, told the 35th annual meeting of the Aerospace Medical Association that the research may produce nothing.

However, he said: "not only do we have a scientific responsibility for doing this research, we also have a moral responsibility for doing so, even in the face of strong ultraconservative opposition."

Dagle noted that there have been hundreds of examples of extra sensory perception reported, involving mental contact between persons far apart, clairvoyance or precognition of events to come. He conceded none have been explained satisfactorily on a scientific basis.

Dagle said that neither the United States nor the Soviet Union has yet put a man in true space.

"While it is true that impressive orbital flights have been made by American and Soviet astronauts," he said, "it must be realized that as they went spinning around they still had visual reference to mother earth below them and they still were tied to her gravitational apron strings."

Dagle said "we can only theorize as to how an astronaut might react when, finally, the gravitational strings are severed, and he finds himself in the apparent center of a dimensionless sphere of black, relieved only by sharp pinpoints of light from the stars. There will be no up, no down, no front, no back."

Dagle said that space travelers, to minimize any sense of disorientation, should be provided with a swift, effective means of communicating with earth.

William McCarthy said about 100 persons gathered as Jose Manguan, 26, climbed the cable after telling a pedestrian he had troubles. He gave the pedestrian his wallet, ring and watch.

Police ordered pedestrians to leave the bridge and brought a loudspeaker to the scene. Manguan was finally talked into

Catchers Had a Bad Day in the American

By HAL BROCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

J.D. Salinger wrote Catcher in the Rye and it was a bestseller. Charlie Dressen's book on his catchers won't sell as many copies but it's sure to make interesting reading.

It wasn't exactly a good day for American League receivers Sunday, and for Dressen's Detroit Tiger catching staff, it wasn't even a reasonable day.

The Tigers lost twice to Baltimore and that matches that number of times Dressen probably blew his top in the Tiger dugout watching catchers Bill Freehan and Mike Roarke heave throws with reckless abandon.

Norm Siebern was on first base with a leadoff walk in the fourth inning of the opener when Brooks Robinson laid down a bunt. Freehan pounced on the ball and uncorked a picture throw which landed in the Baltimore bullpen in right field.

Siebern scored and Robinson dashed all the way to third on the error. He later scored on an infield out. Milt Pappas, with ninth inning help from Dick Hall, made the runs stand up for a 2-1 victory.

Dressen sat Freehan down in the nightcap and started Mike Roarke behind the plate. Things didn't get worse, but then, they didn't get better either.

Baltimore had a 2-0 lead and the bases were loaded with two out in the fourth when Roarke tried for a pickoff at third base. His throw sailed into left field leaving Dressen with a 4-0 deficit and no other catchers to turn to. The Orioles added three more runs and completed the sweep, with a 7-1 victory.

In other American League games, Minnesota got a three-run homer from Don Mincher and dropped Kansas City 6-3; Chicago bested Los Angeles 5-3.

Decision Is Reversed on Ghana Fight

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — The Ghana Boxing Authority reversed today the decision in Saturday night's world title fight between Cuban featherweight champion Sugar Ramos and Ghana's Floyd Robertson.

The decision had gone to Ramos. However, the authority declared Robertson "the new featherweight champion of the world."

The two judges, Ed Lassman of Miami Beach, Fla., president of the World Boxing Association, and Ramon Valazquez, chairman of the Mexico Boxing Commission, declared Ramos the winner while the referee, Jack Hart of Britain, favored Robertson.

An hour after the bout ended, the Ghana Boxing Authority declared the fight "no contest". Then it called a special meeting for further consideration of the hotly disputed decision.

Ghana newspapers called the judges "corrupt capitalists" and demanded that the verdict be reversed.

The state-owned Daily Graphic called the decision in favor of Ramos "nothing but naked robbery," which should not be allowed to stand.

The paper said in an editorial:

with Ron Hansen and J.C. Martin homering: New York swept two from Cleveland, 12-2 and 3-2 in 10 innings and Washington split a pair with Boston, winning 13-4 and losing 9-4.

In the National League, Cincinnati blanked Philadelphia 2-0; Los Angeles routed San Francisco 9-1; Chicago split with Houston winning 4-3 and then losing 4-1 in 11 innings; Milwaukee clouted Pittsburgh 11-5 before the Pirates came back 6-5 and New York split with St. Louis, winning 4-1 and losing 10-1.

Mincher's three-run homer and Earl Battey's solo blast provided a tidy cushion for Camilo Pascual who needed it.

Battey was hospitalized after being injured while catching a foul ball in the sixth inning. He made a spectacular catch and was stunned crashing into the chair used by the ball boy.

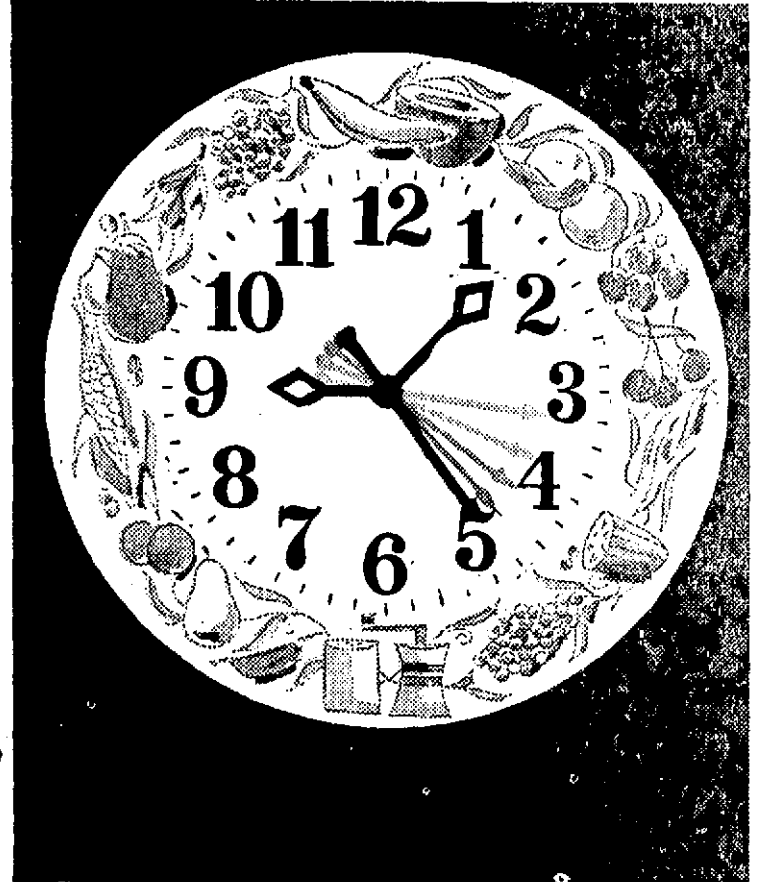

Hansen had a three-run homer in the first inning and Martin's solo shot put the White Sox in front to stay after Jim Fregosi and Dick Simpson had tied it with homers for the Angels.

Manager Yogi Berra got his starting line-up intact for the first time this season and the Indians felt the impact.

Big 8 Athletes Set New Records

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Three more meet records were surpassed by Big Eight athletes last weekend and chances look good for the biggest record-smashing spree in five years at the 36th Big Eight outdoor track meet here Friday and Saturday.

Russ Lavery of Oklahoma State cleared 6-10 in the high jump, Jim Miller of Colorado ran 36.2 in the 330 hurdles and Bill Silverberg of Kansas ran 14:14.9 in the three-mile. The meet records are 6-8 1/2, 36.5 and 14:21, respectively.

Miller's time is the nation's collegiate best this season and equals his career best. The meet three-mile record is held by Paul Acevedo of Kansas, who ran 14:20.8, also under the record, in losing Saturday.

Lavery's 6-10 is the best outdoor jump in Big Eight Conference history and surpassed only by the 6-10 1/4 by Colorado's Leander Durely in the 1963 conference indoor meet.

"Bad decisions are not new in boxing. But surely this one by the two imperialist exploiters is something that hurts Africa."

The Times said editorially the verdict "has left a bitter taste in the mouths of all those who believe that sportsmanship can be equated with justice and fair play."

The Associated Press scorecard gave Ramos five rounds and Robertson four with six even. It scored the fight 70-70 under the five-point must system.

Red-White Game Turns Out Close

By BILL SIMMONS
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Whites got the biggest break in a game decided by breaks and beat the Reds 10-3 as Arkansas closed its spring football practice with the annual intrasquad game here Saturday night.

Cat - quick Ronnie Caveness pounced on a bobble by Red quarterback Jon Brittenum, Whites into scoring range, Jim Lindsey set up the touchdown with a fine 14-yard run and Jerry Mooty made it pay off with a dive from the two.

Tommy McKnelly's extra point made him high scorer for the night. Before Mooty's touchdown McKnelly owned both ends of a 3-3 tie. He booted a 26-yard field goal for the Reds with 3:10 left in the third period and kicked a 31-yarder for the Whites with 14:48 left in the game.

What has been and no doubt still is disturbing Coach Frank Broyles, is the inconsistency of the offense. Note the progress of the White team and the Red team on alternate drives:

FIRST HALF

Whites	Reds
1. 15 yards	4 yards
2. 33 yards	4 yards
3. 8 yards	8 yards
4. 3 yards	38 yards
5. 9 yards	27 yards
6. 60 yards	32 yards

SECOND HALF

Whites	Reds
1. 23 yards	4 yards
2. 31 yards	31 yards
3. 3 yards	7 yards
4. 18 yards	30 yards
5. 0 yards	32 yards
6. 9 yards	17 yards

It must be painfully clear to Broyles that there was only one legitimate drive in the game — the 60-yard march by the White team in second quarter. Marshall hit on passes for gains of 12, 16, 26 and 10 yards in the drive, which ended when Jerry Mooty fumbled at the Reds' 20.

Each field goal was set up by a long kickoff return. Billy Gray returned one 40 yards to the White 36, and the Reds drove on to the eight. A pass interception stopped the march, but the Reds had obtained a heavy field position edge. The Whites punted out to their 39, and the Reds pushed to the White eight before McKnelly kicked the field goal. Mooty returned the ensuing kickoff 42 yards to the Reds 43, giving the Whites the field position, and they went 31 yards to the Red 12. Three plays then lost seven yards, so McKnelly kicked again.

Six Red chances on offense were thwarted by pass interceptions and fumbles. The Whites were stopped once by a fumble and once by pass interception.

Jack Brasuell gained 70 yards for the Reds and Mooty got 59 for the Whites. Marshall hit 10 of 16 pass attempts for 143 yards.

The quarterbacks seldom had opportunity to take advantage of real passing and pass-catching talent on this Razorback team, because the running games were not well enough established to worry the defenses.

Some credit for the fumbles interceptions and low rushing totals, of course, belongs with the defense, which seems bedrock solid.

Marshall managed to unravel a string of passes that amounted to the single sustained drive. But a team that manages only one real drive rarely wins football games.

Missed Third Strike Leads to Victory

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

When graduation time rolls around at Mickey Owen's baseball school, Gus Triandos and Joe Torre should stand at the head of the class.

The two catchers earned their diplomas with high honors Sunday in a way that would have made Owen proud.

Triandos missed a third strike that led to the deciding run in Cincinnati's 2-0 victory over Philadelphia while Torre's passed ball on the third strike paved the way for Pittsburgh's 6-5 come-from-behind triumph over Milwaukee in the second game of their doubleheader.

Owen, of course, holds the notorious distinction of missing the third strike with two out in the ninth inning of a 1941 World Series game. He now operates a baseball school for boys 8 through 18.

The Triandos passed ball put Deron Johnson on first base in the fourth inning of a scoreless pitching duel between Philadelphia's Chris Short and the Reds' Joe Nuxhall.

Short struck out Frank Robinson for what would have been the third out, then walked Tom Harper and gave up a run-scoring single to Chico Cardenas.

The Pirates trailed 5-3 when Bill Mazeroski opened the ninth by striking out. The ball, however, got by Torre, and Mazeroski went to first. The Pirates proceeded to win the game on three singles mixed with a sacrifice bunt.

The victory gave the Pirates a split for the day. Milwaukee won the first game 11-5. In other National League games, Los Angeles drubbed San Francisco 9-1, Chicago nipped Houston 4-3 before bowing 4-1 in 11 innings and New York downed St. Louis 4-1, then lost 10-1.

In the American League, Baltimore swept Detroit 2-1 and 7-1. New York took Cleveland twice 12-2 and 5-2 in 10 innings, Minnesota defeated Kansas City 6-3, Chicago stopped Los Angeles 5-3 and Boston whipped Washington 9-4 after being trounced 13-4.

Jim Gilliam and Maury Wills each drove in two runs while kickled the field goal. Mooty returned the ensuing kickoff 42 yards to the Reds 43, giving the Whites the field position, and they went 31 yards to the Red 12. Three plays then lost seven yards, so McKnelly kicked again.

Six Red chances on offense were thwarted by pass interceptions and fumbles. The Whites were stopped once by a fumble and once by pass interception.

Frank Howard smashed his 10th home run for the Dodgers. John Roseboro also homered. Their support made it easy for Don Drysdale to win his fourth game in five decisions on a six-bitter.

Willie Mays had two of the hits, both doubles, and drove in the Giants' only run in the sixth. Mays, hitting .481, has hit safely in 17 straight games.

Wait Bond was the batting star for Houston against the Cubs. The mammoth outfielder doubled home the Colts' first run in the fourth inning of the second game, then singled to score the tie-breaking tally in the 11th. Jim Wynn added a two-run double in the 11th.

Newman Can Give Hays Stiff Test

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Sports Writer

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Take a short, brittle - legged balding fellow and match him with brawny Bob Hayes, the world's fastest human and a football player when he isn't sprinting. It sounds like the other man might win the race — if Hayes ran backwards.

But incongruous as it seems, Darel Newman, Fresno State College, is the one man in the world who apparently can give Hayes his closest race at 100 yards—and he fits the bookish description.

Newman blazed a 100 in 9.2 seconds Saturday at the West Coast Relays as he equaled the listed world's record and became history's fastest Caucasian at the distance.

He shared the spotlight with veteran shotputter Dallas Long who upped his world record to 66-7 1/2 despite a foot injury.

Newman accomplished his 9.2 despite a start that did not satisfy him and a misjudgment of the finish line. Yet one of three official watches caught him in 9.1 and one of the 9.2 official clockings was only a hair over 9.1.

Hayes, history's only 9.1 sprinter, still hasn't had the mark accepted as a world's record because he ran on an asphalt track.

Newman, only a 20-year-old junior, despite his deceiving headline, ran on the Ratcliff Stadium track that officials call "just plain old, San Joaquin Valley clay."

The record came in a heat when, said Newman, he eased up too soon because he thought another cross stripe was the finish. He won the final in 9.3 and had slight, but allowable, aiding winds each time.

Newman, 5-9 and 155 pounds, said he had "built myself up all week long" in anticipation of the race before 12,000 hometown fans.

PGA championship has been held in metropolitan Pittsburgh.

Low Pressure Expected to Bring Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A low pressure area is expected to create scattered shower and thundershower activity in Arkansas through Tuesday.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts cloudy to partly cloudy skies with temperatures a bit cooler — in the mid 70s to mid 80s during the day and from 60 to 65 at night.

Maximum temperatures around the state Sunday ranged from 74 at Fayetteville to 83 at Texarkana. Low marks today were from 56 at Walnut Ridge to 72 at El Dorado.

The five-day outlook is for mild weather with high marks from the mid 70s to mid 80s and low readings from the mid 50s to about 60 degrees.

Showers will be more numerous the first half of the week, the Weather Bureau said.

Young Democrats Name Browning

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — John Browning of Little Rock was elected president of the Arkansas Young Democrats Club Saturday at the club's convention here.

Browning, administrative assistant to Gov. Orval E. Faubus, was elected by acclamation after his opponent, Don Trumbo of Fayetteville, conceded.

Elected vice presidents were Roy Lee Hight of Little Rock, Mary Jane Akel of Brinkley, David Hale of Yell County, and Robert Castille of Jacksonville.

Howard Diemer of Little Rock was elected secretary; Bille Screeton of Little Rock, treasurer; Jack Files of Hunter, national committeeman; and Ruby Hurley of North Little Rock, national committeewoman.

Zarren moved forward and the cone of the yellow light falling from the ceiling coated his bald head and blond mustaches with gold.

"Yes, I want to live," he said quite formally, but with no suggestion of appeal or concern in his manner.

"Tell me why."

"My brother is in Poland. He is old and sick, and there is no one to care for him. I am looking for money so I can return to Warsaw and bring him back with me. Until he is free I would prefer to live."

"I pity you," Malcolm said. "When his health is better and he is living comfortably off you, he will blame you for not helping him sooner and more abundantly."

"It will not be like that," Zarren said quietly.

"Okay then, what about Clarke?" Malcolm smiled at the small Englishman.

Clarke threw his cigarette aside with a contemptuous gesture. "Shoot me and be done with it, if that's what you want," he said in a savage whisper. "But spare me your bleeding lip."

"I'll oblige you then," Malcolm said, but even as the gun swung about slowly, Clarke flattened himself against the wall and shouted frantically, "For God's sake, don't. Please don't shoot."

"Then supposing you tell me your reasons for wanting to live," Malcolm said dryly.

Clarke's small gray face was shining with sweat. He shook his head helplessly. "I want a room with a lock that a sledge hammer couldn't break. I want to hide there and think of the thousand places where I left part of me forever. You would not understand, none of you could," he said in a voice that was bitter with shame. "But it's as good a reason for living as any other."

The old man in the shadows said quietly, "Have you consider me?"

"Not until now," Malcolm said.

The old man moved into the light and regarded Malcolm with an inquiring smile. He was tall for a Spaniard, almost six feet, and he wore the loose trousers and short jacket of a stock breeder. Under the wide brim of his flat-topped hat, his eyes were deep and dark in sockets lined with a filigree of wrinkles. He was in his early or middle sixties.

"My name is Gonzalo," he said. "I work as foreman at a ranch where bulls are bred. I am a friend of Domingo's, and I stopped here for a glass of wine while the owner of the ranch I work at does business in Malaga. All of these are good reasons for killing me. Or allowing me to live. It depends on your view of such matters."

The old man's eyes were clear and quiet and steady and Malcolm looked into them with a little thrill of recognition; something intimate lurked in their depths, and Malcolm had the sudden exhilarating conviction that this old man knew and shared his secret. Something in his smile and manner told Malcolm that they were the only true conspirators in this room.

"We owe someone a death," Malcolm said, and tossed the gun to Domingo. "Whether I kill you, or you kill me, it doesn't matter. We're only spilling the cheapest liquor in the world."

Domingo stared at the gun as if it had materialized in his hands through black sorcery. "You want me to kill you?"

"Why not?"

Domingo moved slowly toward Malcolm. He approached him tentatively and almost fearfully.

He studied Malcolm's smiling face with an expression which represented an almost comical blend of affection and apprehension.

"I believe you," he said at last.

And then Domingo began to smile, too, and his smile was so tender and grateful that his whole personality seemed transformed by its gentle radiance. He put his gun away and patted Malcolm's shoulder clumsily and respectfully, and his eyes were moist with emotion as they roved hungrily and proudly over Malcolm's face; it was as if he were regarding a cherished son who had only now returned safely from long and dangerous campaigns.

"All my life I have waited for you," he said gently. "Without knowing, I have been waiting for you. You are the strength I have always wanted. You will be ready when I need you."

"Yes," Malcolm said. Everyone watched him as he walked to the door. There was no sound in the room.

Only the faint wheeze of Paco's labored breathing accompanied Malcolm's footsteps into the damp tunnel.

Sinatra Sr. Escapes Drowning

By JAMES LAGIER

LIHUE, Kauai (AP)—Entertainer Frank Sinatra planned to return to work today directing and starring in his new film, apparently suffering no ill-effects from his near drowning on Kauai Island.

Sinatra was rescued Sunday after an undertow swept him seaward. Although exhausted, Sinatra was not harmed, a physician reported.

The movie company's publicist, Harry Friedman, said Sinatra insisted he continue filming today in spite of the incident. Sinatra is making the movie—

"None But the Brave"—on Kauai.

Mrs. Howard Koch the wife of Sinatra's executive producer, also had to be rescued.

Sinatra and Mrs. Koch were swimming near Sinatra's rented cottage, close to the Coco Palms Hotel on the east coast of the island, which is about 100 miles from Honolulu on Oahu Island.

A big wave dragged the two out to sea. Sinatra was pulled further out than Mrs. Koch, according to Friedman, who estimated the distance at 200 yards.

Although considered a fairly good swimmer, Sinatra could not return to shore, Friedman said. Someone at the nearby hotel called the Kapaa fire station.

Brad Dexter, an actor, swam out to Sinatra but could not bring him in.

Harold Jim, assistant manager of the Coco Palms, and Louis Gonsalves Jr., a Kauai County official, swam out and took over for Dexter, who returned to shore, police said.

Alfred O. Giles, manager of the Hawaiian Fruit Packing Co.

Two Judges Would Decide Same Way

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—“If we had to do it over again we would decide the fight the same way,” said two judges who almost caused a riot Saturday night when they awarded Featherweight champion Sugar Ramos of Cuba a close 15-round decision over challenger Floyd Robertson of Ghana.

The ring announcer cautiously gave referee Jack Hart's decision and his much quieter announcement of the judges' verdict was lost in the cheering and confusion for a few minutes.

An uproar followed when the fans and Ghanaian boxing officials comprehended the decision and began shouting denunciations of the judges, Ed Lassman of Miami Beach, Fla., and Rao G. Velazquez of Mexico City. Lassman is president of the World Boxing Association.

The judges voted 70-69 for Ramos while Hart favored Robertson by an undisclosed score.

The Associated Press gave Ramos five rounds and Robertson four, with six even, but scored the fight 70-70 under the five-point must system.

The Ghanaians were generally confident the challenger would triumph despite his role of underdog.

The bout was more than just another championship match. Last week government owned newspapers advised that the fight should be regarded as an historic national occasion.
